

Uniting MPX and Payments Central

The Payments Institute (TPI) Scholarship – 2010

If you want to stay informed about the latest advancements, products, services, processes and applications in payments systems, The Payments Institute (TPI) is for you. From ACH to cards to checks to risks associated with these payment mechanisms, TPI's experts will answer your questions and provide you with the most current information available.

In addition to the five-day course, attendees will be able to earn AAP credits and network with peers across the country. Sessions are designed to accommodate all payments professionals – from beginners to the more advanced.

For more information regarding TPI, visit www.nacha.org/c/PaymtInstit.cfm.

EPCOR is offering two full scholarships, valued at $2,395, to The Payments Institute, which includes:

- Registration Fee
- Five days of information-packed learning and dialoguing with experienced payments instructors
- Resource materials to take back to the workplace
- Lodging for 4 nights
- Meals and special events

Scholarship recipients are responsible for their own transportation costs.
