NACHA 2019 THE PAYMENTS INSTITUTE

JULY 21-24, 2019

Emory University Conference Center Hotel, Atlanta, GA

If you want to stay informed about the latest advancements, products, services, processes and applications in payments systems, The Payments Institute is for you!

The Payments Institute is not a conference; rather it is an intensive university-style program with a curriculum focused on continuing education for industry professionals. In addition to the four-day course, attendees will be able to earn AAP/APRP credits and network with peers across the country. Also, special attention is made to ensure that attendees get one-on-one face time with the experienced payments professionals who serve as faculty for the program. Sessions are designed to accommodate all learning levels—from beginners to the more advanced.

2019 EPCOR Full The Payments Institute Scholarships

EPCOR is offering two full scholarships to The Payments Institute: the John P. Borden scholarship and the Anthony Cope scholarship. Each full-tuition scholarship is valued at $2,495 and includes:

- Tuition Fee (Meals included with tuition begin with dinner on Sunday through lunch on Wednesday, with the exception of dinner Monday evening.)
- Four days of information-packed learning and dialoguing with experienced payments instructors
- Resource materials to take back to the workplace
- Lodging for 3 nights at Emory Conference Center Hotel

Scholarship recipients are responsible for their own transportation costs.

If interested in being selected for one of these full scholarships, please complete the 2019 The Payments Institute Scholarship Application. Applications will be accepted through April 12, 2019. Scholarship recipients will be notified by May 1, 2019.
